Tibetans highlight 'one voice' of all refugees

Photographer David Zimmerman realized he was especially drawn to the Himalayas and Tibetans as he worked his way along the Ganges River from its source in the Himalayas to the Bay of Bengal.

He made friends with scores of Tibetan refugees and listened to their stories during his four-year project.

Zimmerman, an American who divides his time between New York and Taos, New Mexico, says he recognized a parallel with the American Southwest, where people living on environmentally
